XXIV Olinca Model United Nations 2027

Welcome Letter

Dear Delegates,

It is a great honor and enormous pleasure to welcome all of you to the 24th edition of the Olinca Model United Nations. We are delighted to invite you to this year's conference that will be held on February 26th and 27th, 2027. We are eager to continue our school's legacy through its most important academic event.

Each year our model provides a realistic and engaging simulation of the United Nations, allowing students to apply theoretical knowledge in a practical setting. Throughout a whole year, OLINMUN prepares to ensure an exceptional and high-quality experience. We aim to create spaces for debate that empower young people with diverse profiles to raise their voices and continue inspiring them to make an impact on the world. To achieve this, we will have eleven innovative and diverse committees, each of them with a different approach towards ongoing international affairs, featuring four specialized committees with a greater complexity to challenge students. OLINMUN is a great platform for constructive dialogue and mutual learning that goes beyond any traditional educational experience. It is a transformative opportunity that brings young people together to develop essential skills such as leadership, diplomacy, cooperation, and negotiation, preparing them from an early age for the constantly changing world we live in.

OLINMUN is possible with the support of the entire Olinca community. Thanks to the staff of 10th, 11th, and 12th grade students that workday after day with commitment and dedication to make this a reality. Above all, we want to express our gratitude towards Daniela Sandoval Careaga, our OLINMUN coordinator, for guiding us in the best way possible to make this OLINMUN an extraordinary and unforgettable edition.

The international community continues to explore difficult questions and navigate worldwide pressing issues. Today more than ever, the world needs better human beings, educated in international politics and immersed in diplomacy, who can contribute to meaningful change.

We are delighted to be your OLINMUN 2027 secretariat, our team cannot wait to hear your ideas and witness your intellectual curiosity. We are extremely excited and committed to making this edition of OLINMUN the best one yet. We look forward to seeing you in February 2027.

Welcome to OLINMUN 2027!
